You will need to install some software to play them or convert them to a standard format.. It's been about 4 years since I did this last The first thing I did was remove the hard drive from the DVR and I placed it in my Win XP computer.. I then copied the files from the DVR drive to an NTFS formatted external drive The video files on the DVR are not in a standard avi or mpeg format.. It just disgusts me that the industry as a whole would intentionally go out of their way to set it up so that any thing that I record needs to be protected from me!!If you think there needs to be protection from me, then add a stinking routine to the delete function so that when I select 'Delete' on the remote and the selected drive is the hard drive, then prompt me with 'Hey Stupid, do you REALLY want to delete your HARD DRIVE'? If I had gotten that response, I probably would have caught it that I was about to delete from the hard drive and not the disk.

I used a program called Splayer to play the videos I copied from the DVR to the external drive.. I downloaded splayer from splayer.org Have fun I get that piracy is rampant and needs to be prevented.. I had a lot of home movies, grand baby videos, that came up lost because I accidentally reformatted the hard drive instead of the DVD-RW disc I had intended to reformat..
